

A diversity of opinions is a cornerstone of our democracy. Media must represent this diversity and not be owned but a few large corporations. This issue is a critical one to the future of this country.